NO. 14

Treasurer of Wet Goods.

John W. Elkin, formerly of this city, now Jailor of Estill county, according to the Estill Tribune, has been selected Treasurer of the wet goods in his county. He so far has in his custody, securely stored away under a powerful lock and key, forty quarts of the "bottled in the barn" brand for safe-keeping. This is, so far, the amount confiscated from the foxy bootleggers of the little state of Estill, since Judge Hugh Riddell has been inducted into the office of Circuit Judge. In his charge to the grand jury at the recent term of court at Irvine Judge Riddell gave the people of his county to know the law must be respected, and it seems that his words of warning are bearing fruit in the right direction.

Tightening Down on Liquor Traffic.

Simultaneous with the refusal of the common carriers in Kentucky to accept any more intoxicating liquor under the provisions of the Webb bill for transportation into "dry" counties, the officials of the aforesaid "dry" counties and cities, particularly in the western and southern portions of the state, are putting the screws to bootleggers. In consequence the number of persons who have evinced a willingness to go forth into the wet country and tote back into the dry country a vial of spirits for the satisfaction and consolation of a busy neighbor is becoming fewer, and thirsts are growing unpace.

Approaches Washed Away by Flood.

The approach to the highway bridge at Waltersville on this side of the river was swept away by the recent high waters. The approach to the Walter's Ferry bridge two miles south of this city was also lost on one side. The water on the Walter's Ferry bridge was three feet above the floor of the bridge, but the bridge held all the drift that lodged against it and stood like a stone wall uninjured. The approaches to these two bridges are being replaced and will soon be ready for travel again.

Good Roads in Demand.

Two gentlemen were in the Recorder's office one afternoon last week seeking information in regard to a farm in this neighborhood which they had seen advertised. They were told of another farm that is for sale, but when they were told it was not located on a pike they had all the information they desired in regard thereto. There will soon be no demand for farms not located on good roads. The time has come when the land owner wants a farm from which he can get to a market any day in the year.—Burlington Recorder.

The recent freezes have not injured the fruit in the least, and that the bloom has been retarded this late in the season, hopes are entertained that the fruit will escape later cold snaps and yield an abundant crop. Apples are frequently in full bloom in March, but this time peaches are not fully out yet.

Will Help Sunday Schools.

If there is any community or place in Powell county or wherever this paper is read that wishes to have a Sunday School organized, if they will write to Paul Derthick, Stanton, Ky., he will be glad to aid them in any way he can, either by organizing it or furnishing it with literature free for three months. If you know of any Sunday School that is struggling and needs assistance please write to him and he will help. Feel free to call upon him for any assistance, for free literature if the school is not able to buy. During the past seven years he has organized 80 Union Sunday Schools besides assisting and aiding over 100 other schools. It matters not what church, he will help all that are interested in Sunday School work.

Big Raise in Counties.

The State Board of Equalization at Frankfort last Wednesday passed on the counties of the Seventh Appellate district. The total raise in this district is $3,631,468.00. Powell, Estill, Clark, Montgomery and Wolfe are raised 10 per cent. on lands; Lee is raised 12 per cent.; Menefee is not raised at all. The biggest raise is in Bell and Harlan counties where the raise is 25 per cent. These raises are only tentative, of course, and hearing of protests will be heard later. Powell will be heard April 18.

Census Taking Time.

This is the month for the taking of the school census which must be completed and in the hands of the County Superintendent by the first of May. Some persons last year over the State got into trouble for padding the lists. No Powell county officials have been charged with anything like this, and we trust never will, but they should take care to see that every one of school age in the several districts are taken.

Prof. C. J. Norwood, state inspector of Mines, announced that his compilation of statistics as completed thus far indicates that the output of Kentucky coal Mines for 1912 will be about 16,000,000 tons and that he is confident the output will not be less than this amount. The highest output heretofore for Kentucky mines was 14,000,000 tons in 1910.

At Louisville a large warehouse of the Rugby Distillery Co., weakened by the flood waters, collapsed, releasing to the river about 5,000 barrels of whiskey, valued at a quarter of a million dollars.

Elders P. N. Taylor and J. T. Turpin have recently organized a Baptist church at Heidelberg. The church starts off with bright prospects for the future.

P. E. Hale, a former merchant of this city living at Hamilton, Ohio, lost his home and all its contents by the recent high waters of the Miami river.

It was hoped April would bring a little calmer weather, but the wind continues to blow as it did by far the greater part of March.

Slow Shipment.

Every one who has occasion to have goods shipped knows how careless and slothfully the railroads handle their goods some times, but the most wicked neglect ever recorded was last week when a life saving boat was shipped over the L. & N. from Louisville to Cincinnati, Ohio, to be used in rescuing flood sufferers. Capt. Gillooly didn't ship the boat until he was assured by the L. & N. authorities that the boat would be there on time, but it was delayed two days, and in the meantime hundreds were starving and suffering from the want of rescuers.

Negro Mangled by Train.

Lucien Smothers, of Mt. Sterling, was found in a mangled and dying condition Tuesday on the C. & O. tracks at Hedges Station, Clark county, and is believed to have fallen from a car while stealing a ride. A message from E. E. Hughes, who lives in that neighborhood, to the Sheriff's office was to the effect that a man believed to be Bert Smothers, who escaped from the jail at Clay City, had been found, and Deputy Sheriff Davis left for the scene. Deputy Sheriff R. S. Scofield notified authorities at Clay City. It was later found that the injured man is a brother of Bert Smothers. He was taken to the office of Dr. C. M. Driver, who attended his injuries.—Winchester Sun.

Good Roads.

The Illinois Good Roads Association says: "Improved roads mean better schools and larger attendance, better health and quicker transportation, better farms and more cultivated land, better crops and cheaper transportation, better economic conditions and more producers, better social conditions and less isolation, better church attendance and better citizens, better postal service and closer friends, better business and more consumers, better industries and more employment, a better state and better nation." These are all things quite worth while. Good roads cost money, but the returns compensate for the expenditure.

Varied Weather Conditions.

The winter and the month of March have been the mildest, the wettest and yet the most backward the writer remembers of ever seeing. We know we have seen the first days of March with more fruit buds, more grass and a better outlook for early gardens than are with us these early days of April.

Building Another Warehouse.

Eaton & McGuire are building a new warehouse along the side of their store building to further accommodate the storage of their large and varied stock of wagons, fencing and farm implements.

The 1913 convention of the Kentucky Press Association is to be held at Olympia Springs June 9-13, according to an announcement by the executive committee.

STANTON NEWS.

Mrs. Henry Tipton is very sick at this writing. Two doctors are waiting on her and we hope she will soon be better.

Dr. Bullock was summoned from Lexington to attend to the eyes of the little baby at Judge Hardwick's. Prompt action has saved them and the prospects now are that they will be all right.

Mr. Tilford Abner, an old resident of Stanton, but now living near Powell's Valley church, was calling on friends in town Monday of this week. He is thinking of coming back to the old town to locate and we welcome him should he come.

The case of the negroes for the killing of Clay City Marshall Pettit has been set for April 23rd at Winchester. The jury was unable to come from Montgomery county on account of the high waters. The Circuit Court was compelled to adjourn because of the rains and high water.

How about the beautifying of our cemetery? Let all interested do a little work and fix up the grave where their friend or loved one is buried. This is the time of the year for such work. Let it not get into such a shape as it was last year when the bushes had to be mown with a scythe.

This past week has been a hard one on our college. With measles all the rage, whooping cough in abundance, roseola here and there, mumps in rare cases and to top it off some few cases of lice and itch the school has suffered in attendance. Then when the flood came along it about finished it, but as soon as waters subsided things took a more encouraging turn and the bell still rings.

John Clair was found guilty of manslaughter and sentenced to two to twenty years. Nathan Fugate, who was a witness for the defense was arrested and held in jail till Sam Cockerill, of Breathitt county, came for him. It seems he cut Cale Noble, of that county, with a knife and the officers could not get a hold of him till he was located at this trial. A telegram was sent from Jackson to hold him.

Red River paid us a gushing visit this past week. Nearly every body knows all about the flood, so little comment is necessary. The railroad was washed out near the Stanton river bridge but has been repaired. Several farmers lost hogs and other live stock and immense damage was done to fencing, but Powell county did not begin to suffer as Ohio, Indiana and other places where hundreds of lives were lost and millions of dollars damage done.

We learn with sincere regret that Judge Hardwick and his family are soon to leave our town. We do not know how we can give them up but it seems that we must. It will be a great loss to the town and the county when they leave. We shall miss Mrs. Ella Hardwick from the church as she was such a loyal worker and took such an interest in all its affairs. They are going to Winchester where they are having a new house built. What will be Stanton's loss will be Winchester's gain.

During the past few weeks we have enjoyed a wonderful quietness in the way of shooting of pistols. But this past week a certain young man who has been absent from our town for some weeks arrived in town loaded with the bad man's paraphernalia. So the nights have been made hideous with the crack of the pistol and while we have no proof of his doing it looks rather suspicious. We can put two and two together and draw our conclusions. Let us all hope that he will leave us soon and find his stripes elsewhere.

We hear quite a bit of complaint from some of the good women of Stanton (and God knows that we have some splendid women) that money for some reason is rather scarce in their homes. They say that it is being spent for whiskey largely. They need it for food, clothes, and other necessities and luxuries but they cannot get it for that. Men, you had better let your wives carry the pocket book. They can spend money wiser than you and put it to better use. I can assure you that none of it will be spent for whiskey.

The Grand Jury at this term of court only made fourteen indictments. If we did not know the conditions of the county better we would be proud of such a record. With the suit cases traveling back and forth empty and full it does seem that some one ought to have been indicted for supplying this community with whiskey when it is unlawful to do so. But having served on a Grand Jury once it is surprising how bad some people's memory is when it comes to knowing anything about whiskey, and how easy it is to lie rather than tell the truth. The Grand Jury is powerless when men will come before it, and knowing that the law has been violated, tell them (the Grand Jury) that they have never bought whiskey of any one nor do they know of any one bringing it in unlawfully. There are plenty of men in Stanton who could indict all these go betweens with their suit cases. But they have become habitual lie swearers. Judge Benton was very forceful in his charge to the Grand Jury about the men who are lie swearers. Let us repeat again that the County Attorney has the authority to have any man summoned before the County Judge or Police Judge who is carrying a suspicious package or suit case and have that package or suit case examined. He is situated in an ideal place for watching these tramps and he knows the men well enough to know what they have in their suit case. He is paid to do this job and it is not a question of whether he wants to or not but of his duty to Powell county. When Mayor Hunt was Prosecuting Attorney of Cincinnati it was due to his stupendous work alone and almost unaided that he cleaned up that large city of much of its rottenness and trickery. Stanton is a very small place beside Cincinnati and the history of almost every man is known. It is surprising how much business some of our worthless characters have in Winchester and Mt. Sterling of late, and they always travel with a suitcase. When they leave town the suit case seems very light to carry, but when they come back they seem to carry it with difficulty.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

For County Attorney.

We are authorized to announce O. C. Atkinson as candidate for County Attorney of Powell county, subject to the action of the Democratic primary election in August.

For Assessor.

We are authorized to announce S. A. Easter as candidate for Assessor of Powell county, subject to the action of the Democratic primary election in August.

For Jailer.

We are authorized to announce Jesse Crow as candidate for Jailer of Powell county, subject to the action of the Republican primary election in August.

Of course Kentucky is in debt and the reason of it is because the last and former Legislatures, regardless of the political complexion of the Representatives, have been creating new offices and allowing big appropriations that the State could do without, and neglecting other things of vital importance. What the people want is to send men to the Legislature next winter that will be economical in making any allowances whatever outside of the general expenses of the State. The newly created offices should also be abolished. One thing, however, should be done, and that is a new tax of 5 cents for state and to roads should be levied. Right here we wish to ask one question: Don't you, Mr. Reader, believe that the extra 15 cents levied for school purposes a few years ago would do Powell county more good in making roads to get to our school houses rather than appropriating it for the purposes it is now spent? And say, are our schools profited by the collection and expenditure of this tax? If they are we fail to see where.

In the proper place this week appears the formal announcement of O. C. Atkinson for County Attorney. Mr. Atkinson has been raised in the county and is thoroughly acquainted with the conditions existing. He was admitted to the bar two years ago and each of the several members of the examining board which was composed of the best lawyers of the 23rd Judicial District, said then he, together with A. T. Whitt, who was examined at the same time passed the best examination of any candidate ever appearing before either of them.

Mr. Atkinson is twenty-four years old, a bright young man, of a very unassuming disposition, and unpretentious qualifications. He is of the character to make good wherever he takes hold. In him, if elected, the county will find an efficient counsellor. His popularity coupled with his fitness for the office makes him a very strong candidate.

If the good people left in Powell county would do for their native county what good Powell county citizens are doing for their adopted counties, we would soon have a good county and plenty of good roads. The trouble is there are too many people living in the county who are always looking for the county to do something for them, instead of looking for something to do for the county. Powell county is poorer for the existence of such people.

Resolutions of Respect.

The bar of Estill county met at the court house in Irvine, Ky., on the fifth day of the March term, 1913, of the Estill Circuit Court. The Honorable Hugh Riddell was elected Chairman and Clarence Miller Secretary. The object of the meeting being to take notice of the death of the late Judge D. B. Redwine.

On motion the committee on resolutions was appointed as follows: A. F. Byrd, Kelly Kash, W. H. Lilly, and Clarence Miller, which committee reported the following resolutions.

Whereas, the great Judge of Universe has called from our midst and to His judgment bar our lamented Judge D. B. Redwine; now be it resolved:

First. That in his death the district has lost an able, conscientious and painstaking jurist, the people a devoted friend, one who knew their needs and was ever ready to respond to their call for help, and his family a devoted father, husband and brother.

Resolved second. That the members of the Irvine Bar join in words and thoughts in extending to the bereaved family their heartfelt sympathy in their hour of sorrow.

Resolved third. That these resolutions be spread at large upon the order book of this court and a copy thereof be sent to the family, and that a copy of same be published in the Estill Tribune and all other papers of his district.

A. F. Byrd, Kelly Kash, W. H. Lilly, Clarence Miller.

After proper remarks upon the life and character of the distinguished Judge made by the following persons, A. F. Byrd, T. B.

Blakey, C. Miller, R. R. Friend, Kelly Kash, W. H. Lilly, J. P. Adams, Hugh Riddell and R. W. Smith, the resolutions were unanimously adopted and the meeting then adjourned.

Hugh Riddell, Chairman, Clarence Miller, Secretary.

NEW ERA FARMER. NOTED SPEAKERS WILL BE HEARD

Edited by one who holds the Plow Handles and Writes from Experience Rather than Hear say or Theory.

Honor to Whom Due.

Whoever called a farmer a "hay-seed" or any other name in derision, did not stop to consider the respect due him and the high position he should fill. From the land and the cultivation thereof, comes all our food. Some one has said that from land comes all wealth. Everything men are or need comes from the land by labor and the work of the people. Take any ordinary thing. This paper for instance, came from wood pulp, made out of the trees which grew wild and which were cut down by the labor of men; they were ground up and rolled and bleached by the labor of men. There is nothing whatever in this piece of paper except the land and labor. Even the part of the paper that we know as the capital employed in making it, the tools and the other machines in their turn, all came out of the earth; for the iron was taken out of the earth by the labor of men and was shaped into per-making machines by the labor of men. When we realize that everything we eat, everything we wear, all that shelters us, comes out of the land by labor, and out of nothing else, then we respect the men who do the work to bring the good from the land.—Harrodsburg Leader.

Try a Little Alfalfa.

Every farm should have at least a small alfalfa patch, if no more than one-half acre for experiment. If you have a spot of rich ground free from weeds you may sow it the first of May on a well-prepared seed bed and feel sure of its success. If your ground is not free from weeds, turn it early this spring and double disk it every three weeks until the first of August to keep down the weeds, and at the same time to put the soil in the finest condition possible. Sow at the rate of 30 pounds per acre, and a stand of alfalfa is almost assured. The New Era Farmer will experiment with one-half acre on new ground this spring. New ground is always free from weeds, and the freshness of the soil should make it grow fine we believe.

To Revive Fruit Trees.

Last spring the writer bought one hundred apple trees to set out a new orchard. The trees were delayed in transit one week and it was then up in April. When the trees arrived we felt sure none of them would live. The depot agent like us thought they were then dead and so marked our freight bill that we could remove the cost of the trees from the railroad company. Upon the advice of the nurseryman from whom we got the trees, we put them as they came to us, packed, into a pool of water and weighted them down so that not a twig of any of the trees was uncovered. They were kept this way for two days and nights. By this time the buds reappeared. We took pains in setting them out well and not a tree died. We never had trees do better and we have set out about six hundred in the past seven years.

Plant Plenty of Beans.

Farmers are admonished to plant plenty of beans, because of their food value to the family, as well as the profit to be gained from the crop. This is a hardy, nourishing vegetable, found now in some form on nearly every table, and will find more consumers as its great value becomes known. There is becoming an increasing demand for it, and navy beans which, a few years ago could be bought for fifty cents a bushel, now sell readily for five times as much, and in small quantities, are retailed for ten cents a pound. It is claimed that old land is better than new for growing beans. Every farmer should plant a few acres, and see that they are harvested properly.

Valuable Pasture Coming on.

We observe the Japanese clover just peeping through the ground these warm days. It may get killed later but if it does, more will come. It never fails. Many a valuable pasture of this grass will be broken up this spring and put in corn when the tiller of the field will not realize fifty cents a day for his labor in growing the crop. Better let that Japanese clover grow unless you are sure the land will grow good corn, and are then willing to sow the field back in grass before you wear it out.

Farmer's Need of an Education.

The farmer should have a good education. He pursues one of the most important occupations in the world. Almost all the food of civilized man is procured from the farm. The quantity and excellence of the food thus produced depend upon the skill and intelligence with which the farm is managed. Nothing can so well be done by an ignorant, careless person as by a person of intelligence and knowledge, and there is no place where knowledge is more important than it is on a farm.

Ten cent hogs and ten cent cattle certainly mean prosperity for the farmer. The greatest trouble with the most of us is to sell off too much of our young stock when prices are so high. It is best to always keep the young stock and sell the matured animals when prices are soaring or fearful of going down.

Baled Hay for Sale.

Shredded peavines entirely free from weeds, and well cured for mowing, 60 cents per bale. No better roughness for horses, cattle and sheep. All of them eat it greedily and do better on it than on other common hay. J. E. Burgher

When Kentucky Educational Association Meets.

GATHERING AT LOUISVILLE.

Program Committee of K. E. A. Extremely Fortunate in Securing Services of Many Distinguished Educators and Speakers of National Reputation. Partial List Given Here.

If never there, you ought to go. If ever there, you'll want to go.

The program committee of the Kentucky Educational Association has been extremely fortunate in securing the services of practically all the prominent speakers that were originally selected for the gathering in Louisville on April 30 and May 1, 2 and 3. The music will be quite varied, as it is planned to have high school glee clubs, class choruses and organ recitals.

Before becoming president of the Armour Institute of Technology of Chicago Dr. Gunsaulus occupied some of the largest pulpits in that city. Whether Dr. Gunsaulus talked in his church or in one of Chicago's great theaters, he always had a large audience to listen to him say big things in a splendid, big way.

Dr. Gunsaulus' lecture dates have carried him all over the country in the winter, and during the summer he is always in demand as a popular Chattanooga talker. One of the finest things about Dr. Gunsaulus is that, although he is popular, he has never failed to say strong, vigorous things.

Colonel Henry Exall.

It will be an inspiration to the trustees who attend the Kentucky Educational Association to listen to Colonel Exall of Texas. Last January the Commercial club of Louisville had Colonel Exall as the speaker at the annual New Year gathering and he simply electrified the men present.

Something over two years ago Colonel Exall decided that it was time for Texas to take care of her soil. Now, when Colonel Exall decides things ought to be done, the things usually have a way of getting done. He at once inaugurated the Texas Industrial congress, which offered $10,000 in gold as prizes for crops in all parts of Texas. It was soon evident that the $10,000 in gold was the least expensive part of the undertaking for the various contestants must be kept in touch with each other and the congress. The undertaking cost $30,000 for the first year. Colonel Exall raised the funds.

This year 4,000 men, women, boys and girls contested for the prizes and the whole state is awake to the fact that results are being produced. In fact this feeling has become so strong that a group of business men are preparing to finance the Texas Industrial congress for a period of three years.

Dr. Charles Evans.

Dr. Charles Evans is president of the State Normal school at Edmond, Okla. He is a transplanted Kentuckian, and like any number of transplanted Kentuckians he has made good in the state of his adoption. He grew up with the country, and grew up big. In fact he has grown so big that he is now being spoken of as the next state superintendent of Oklahoma.

His new book, "Growing a Life," published by Rand, McNally & Co., is receiving favorable comment from prominent educators in all parts of the country. It will probably be adopted as one of the Kentucky reading circle books for the ensuing year.

Dr. Alston Ellis.

Another, ex-Kentuckian on the program of the Kentucky Educational Association is Dr. Alston Ellis, president of the Ohio University at Athens. For twelve years he has been making history at the University of Ohio, so he is sure to have something worth while to say to the teaching force of his home state.

It is said that his love for Kentucky has never been dimmed by his service out of the state. In fact it is rumored that he will build a handsome home at Port Thomas, Ky., where he will reside after leaving the university in 1915.

Farm Drain Tile

Make Your Wet Land Productive.

By the use of drain tile you can turn that low, wet, useless, swampy field into the most productive spot on your farm. Good tile, properly placed, not only carries off surplus water, it admits air to the soil and makes it easy to work. It improves any soil. The increase in the value of the land is many times the cost of the tile. The first year's crop from tiled land pays for it. Any body can do the work successfully. Write for particulars or call at our plant.

Stubborn Case

"I was under the treatment of two doctors," writes Mrs. R. L. Phillips, of Indian Valley, Va., "and they pronounced my case a very stubborn one, of womanly weakness. I was not able to sit up, when I commenced to take Cardui.

I used it about one week, before I saw much change. Now, the severe pain, that had been in my side for years, has gone, and I don't suffer at all. I am feeling better than in a long time, and cannot speak too highly of Cardui."

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

if you are one of those ailing women who suffer from any of the troubles so common to women.

Cardui is a builder of womanly strength. Composed of purely vegetable ingredients, it acts quickly on the womanly system, building up womanly strength, toning up the womanly nerves, and regulating the womanly system. Cardui has been in successful use for more than 50 years. Thousands of ladies have written to tell of the benefit they received from it. Try it for your troubles. Begin today.
